

ANNA ELENA BROLIS
Empowerment Coach & Trainer

I am a seasoned legal consultant, specializing in Administrative Law with a strong focus on Environmental Law and Energy Law. My passion lies in guiding executive professionals through the complexities of these legal domains, leveraging problem-solving expertise, effective communication, and interpersonal skills.

Along my journey, I've evolved into a business coach and a dedicated trainer, with a primary focus on empowering individuals. I'm deeply committed to helping professionals broaden their horizons and transform career events into enticing opportunities.

I find tremendous power in connecting with people over shared dreams, strategic planning, attempts, and even occasional setbacks that lead to personal and professional growth. In an ever-evolving legal industry, I recognize the importance of addressing critical aspects such as building a fulfilling career, talent retention, continuous learning, effective management, sustainability, and work-life integration.

My unique background, bridging the legal realm from law firms to corporate entities, equips me to understand and cater to the diverse needs of both individual professionals and corporate clients.

My journey in 2020 and 2021, balancing a consultant's role in the legal sector with the responsibilities of motherhood to two young children, has provided me with invaluable insights and a strengthened sense of purpose.

In collaboration with SOLOM - Società Lombarda Avvocati Amministrativisti, I initiated the InFuturo - Il Laboratorio sulla professione sostenibile Project. This project is passionately committed to driving a profound cultural shift in the realm of sustainability within the legal profession.
